Maryland Women's Soccer Notes

KICKING THE SEASON OFF ON A WINNING NOTE

The Terps opened the 1997 season on Monday night by defeating Wright State, 3-1. After falling behind early, the Terps responded with the final three goals of the game to take the victory. Junior forward Keri Sarver scored all three goals for the Terps, recording the second "hat trick" of her career. Senior midfielder Michelle Salmon assisted on the final two goals. Freshman goalkeeper Riki-Ann Serrins earned her first collegiate victory in the net.

PUTTIN' UP THEIR DUKES

James Madison is the first of 13 currently-ranked opponents that Maryland will face in 1997. The Dukes went 15-6-2 in 1996 and tied for the Colonial Athletic Association championship. They reached the second round of last season's NCAA Tournament. The Dukes opened the season with a 2-1 loss at No. 8 Penn State last Saturday.

REWRITING THE RECORD BOOK

Keri Sarver's three goals on Monday night moved her into second place on Maryland's career goal-scoring list with 29, behind teammate Emmy Harbo. She also moved to within four points of the career lead for points also held by Harbo.

Career Goals

1. 34-Emmy Harbo ('95-)
2. 29-Keri Sarver ('95-)
3. 28-Randi Goldblatt ('91-'94)

Career Points

1. 80-Emmy Harbo
2. 76-Keri Sarver
3. 63-Randi Goldblatt

MARYLAND-MADISON HISTORY

The Terps lead the all-time series with the Dukes, 5-3. The Terps have won the last three, including a 2-1 overtime win last season and a 6-1 NCAA Tournament victory in 1994.

NEXT FOR THE TERPS

The Terps will be in Williamsburg on Sunday to take on No. 19 William & Mary. The Tribe went 14-9 last season and reached the NCAA Tournament. The teams last met in 1995, when the Terps shut out the Tribe 1-0 at Ludwig Field.
